SANTA BARBARA COUNTY PROCLAIMS LOCAL EMERGENCY DUE TO THOMAS FIRE

(SANTA BARBARA, Calif.) – At 1:30 p.m. December 8, 2017, Santa Barbara County proclaimed a local emergency due to the Thomas Fire that has burned more than 132,000 acres in Ventura County and impacted Santa Barbara County with evacuation orders, hazardous air conditions and periodic power outages. The proclamation (attached) was executed by the Santa Barbara County Executive Officer; the Board of Supervisors is expected to act formally on the proclamation at its next meeting on Tuesday, December 12, 2017.

Proclaiming a local state of emergency is an essential step for local governments dealing with significant incidents. It ensures that all county resources are available for the fire control efforts and supporting activities. Having the proclamation in place also helps facilitate State and Federal reimbursement for emergency response.

Chair of the Board of Supervisors, Joan Hartmann, said, “Our top priority is protecting the lives and safety of the public and our first responders. I am grateful to the firefighters and public safety employees who are responding so effectively to the Thomas Fire and doing their best to prevent damage to homes, businesses and other infrastructure. This proclamation is an important step our County is taking to ensure we have the maximum level of resources available during this disaster.”

The Thomas Fire started at 6:25 p.m. on December 4, 2017 in the County of Ventura. As of 8 a.m. Friday, December 8, 2017, the incident was at 10 percent containment. The Fire is actively burning within the Santa Ynez River watershed, which is the primary water source for the southern portion of Santa Barbara County. Extensive smoke and ash have created hazardous air quality that led to the closure of most south county schools. Evacuation centers are open and receiving people and animals evacuated from Santa Barbara and Ventura counties.
