Mental Health Services at the Santa Maria Children’s Clinic

What to expect as you begin your treatment...

Your First Appointment: Your first meeting will be an evaluation appointment with a mental health practitioner. This meeting typically lasts 2 hours and your mental health worker will take a collaborative approach in interviewing you and your child to determine the mental health problem and the services that best match your child’s specific needs.

The second appointment: After your first meeting you will be invited back to complete any remaining evaluation issues and to review recommended treatment options to get your child on the road to wellness and recovery. As the parents/legal guardian and consumer, you are an essential part of the treatment process and you will help your mental health worker design your treatment plan.

Possible recommended treatment options at Santa Maria Children’s Clinic could include any of the following:

- Behavioral treatment
- Group therapy
- Individual therapy (home based and or clinic based)
- Family therapy
- Medications
- Intensive case management
- Transition Age Youth program services
- Wrap Around Services

Additional Appointments: This will reflect the start of recommended services. Throughout the course of treatment your mental health worker will adjust the treatment plan to reflect your individualized treatment needs. Consumers are expected to be active participants in their own treatment. The best outcome for success on the road to wellness occurs when consumers attend their appointments and are full and active participants in their individualized treatment.

Mental Health and Psychiatry

At the Santa Maria Children’s Clinic Dr. Jonah Shull, MD is the residing Board Certified Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist

Psychiatrists: Are medical doctors who can prescribe medicine to help your child. Seeing the psychiatrist will help with informing you if medication is recommended for your child.

Just because your child has been scheduled to see the psychiatrist does not mean he/she will necessarily be given a prescription for medicine.

Medications can help children and adolescents recover from many mental health conditions. Research supports better outcomes when therapy is combined with taking medications.

If you or your child have been prescribed medications at this clinic, please give at least 7 days advance notice to our staff so we can get your refill processed. We want to ensure you get your medications in time.
Mental Health and the Education System

Many of the children and adolescents referred to Santa Maria Clinic attend our local schools. Our clinic continues to work in partnership with a variety of school-based and/or school-linked programs that have been developed for purposes of early intervention, crisis intervention and prevention, treatment, and promotion of positive social and emotional development. Your child may have been involved in one of these programs and /or may be referred to one of these programs as you work with our teams.

School is a major part of a child’s life and a child with mental health needs can experience challenges that make it difficult to be successful in school.

If your child’s mental health issues are impacting their progress in their education, your mental health worker will evaluate and determine how to assist you in understanding the school system to better suit your child’s mental health and educational needs.

Mental health staff can attend school meetings and communicate with school staff to work as a team to meet the individual needs of each child.

Mental Health and Transition Planning

As you begin to progress in your treatment, make steady gains and meet your individualized treatment goals your mental health worker will begin the conversation about transition planning.

You and your treatment team will determine the next best step for you as you progress toward wellness. Transition planning can include some of the following options:

- The development of a relapse plan
- Follow-up services with a community based provider
- Medication management with a primary care physician
- Step down to a less intensive service
- A referral to another program and/or adult services
- Closure to the clinic with referrals if symptoms return

You will be an active participant in determining your next steps as you graduate or outgrow treatment with Santa Maria Children’s Clinic.
